Structure of a Qualifying Tournament

- The tournament will be a four (4) round elimination tournament with each round being one session. Each session begins with five (5) ghost hands and lasts for fifteen (15) hands. The players will bet in sequence counter-clockwise around the table. Markers numbered one (1) through fifteen (15) will be used at each table to indicate the player required to bet first, as well as what number hand is being dealt. The marker will begin at the 1st player on the right of the dealer and be moved counter-clockwise one player position after each hand. Once a wager is made it cannot be changed or removed. Players are required to place a bet every hand and may only bet in their designated area. Failure to place a bet will disqualify them from the round.
- All players in Round 1 will start with 5,000 points in the form of tournament chips. The minimum bet will be 100, up to a maximum bet of 2,500 on Banker or Player, in increments of 100. All Tie & Dragon Bonus bets will be a minimum of 100 up to a maximum of 500, in increments of 100. Exception: Tie Breaker bets have no maximum.
- Round 1 will consist of one session with six (6) Baccarat tables each having a maximum of six (6) players per table. The top three (3) players from each table with the highest point totals (a maximum of eighteen (18) players) advance to Round 2.
- All players qualifying for Round 2 will start with 5,000 points in the form of tournament chips. The minimum bet will be 100, up to a maximum bet of 2,500 on Banker or Player, in increments of 100. All Tie & Dragon Bonus bets will be a minimum of 100 up to a maximum of 500, in increments of 100. Exception: Tie Breaker bets have no maximum.
- Round 2 will consist of one session with three (3) Baccarat tables each having a maximum of six (6) players per table. The top four (4) players from each table with the highest point totals (a maximum of twelve (12) players) advance to Round 3.
- All players qualifying for Round 3 will start with 5,000 points in the form of tournament chips. The minimum bet will be 100, up to a maximum bet of 2,500 on Banker or Player, in increments of 100. All Tie & Dragon Bonus bets will be a minimum of 100 up to a maximum of 500, in increments of 100. Exception: Tie Breaker bets have no maximum.
- Round 3 will consist of one session with two (2) Baccarat tables each having a maximum of six (6) players per table. The top three (3) players from each table with the highest point totals (a maximum of six (6) players) advance to Round 4.
- All players qualifying for Round 4 will start with 10,000 points in the form of tournament chips. The minimum bet will be 100, up to a maximum bet of 5,000 on Banker or Player, in increments of 100. All Tie & Dragon Bonus bets will be a minimum of 100 up to a maximum of 500, in increments of 100. Exception: Tie Breaker bets have no maximum.
- Round 4 will consist of one session with one (1) Baccarat table having a maximum of six (6) players. At the completion of the session, the players will be instructed to carefully place their chips directly in front of their position. A tournament representative will verify the point value of the tournament chips and record the amount next to the players name on the Event Control Form. The player and the tournament representative will each initial the form after agreeing with the amount. Players who have "tapped out" will be recorded as zero (0).
- Snoqualmie Casino reserves the right to add/delete sessions and to adjust advancement based upon the number of players responding to our invitation. Snoqualmie Casino management also reserves the right to adjust the maximum number of advancements, when management deems it as necessary, in order to resolve an error caused by our staff.

Breaking Ties for Point Totals

- When players have a tie for point totals and a decision is required to advance in the tournament or to determine prize pool position, the following procedure will be used to break the tie:

- Three (3) dice will be shaken using a dice cup by each player involved in the tie. Each player will be given tournament chips totaling one hundred (100) times the total of the three (3) dice. The players must bet all the chips received as a result of the shake of the dice on a single hand. The highest point total must make their bet first, followed by lower point totals sequentially. The player with the highest point total at the end of the hand will advance in the tournament or be placed in the next highest position of the prize pool. This procedure will be repeated for each hand necessary to break any remaining ties.

Example: Three players have equal point totals. They will each take a turn shaking the three dice. Player one shakes a total of 15, Player two shakes a total of 12 and player three shakes a total of 10. Player one will be given 1,500 in tournament chips, must place their bet first and places a Banker bet. Player two will be given 1,200 in tournament chips, will place their bet next and places a Player bet. Player three will be give 1,000 in tournament chips, places their bet last and places 500 on the player and 500 on the Tie bet.

- One hand of Baccarat is dealt resulting in a Player win.
- Player two wins this tie breaker and advances or takes the next highest position in the prize pool.
- Players one and three will now repeat the process to break their tie.
